

This map illustrates the Chín Hồ (Nine Lakes) region, a vast natural water reservoir in central Vietnam. The central feature is Hồ Chí Minh, the largest lake, which is a complex of interconnected water bodies. Major tributaries shown include Sông Ba to the west, Sông Đồng Nai to the east, and Sông La Ngà to the south. Other labeled lakes include Hồ Thác Mơ, Hồ Trại An, and Hồ Trại Thủ Đức. The map also shows the surrounding provinces of Campuchia to the west, Lâm Đồng to the east, and the city of Hồ Chí Minh to the south. A network of roads, including National Routes 1, 13, 14, 20, 51, and 56, is depicted across the region.
